(Психология общения)

SUBJECT DESCRIPTION

Credits (ECTS)	5.00 ECTS
Assessment	pass/fail
Aim of the subject and short description
The course gives an overview of themes and basic concepts in psychology; special focus is put on promoting communication skills and knowledge by completing and analysing practical assignments. Participants get feedback on their behaviour and performance which allows them to further develop communication skills and attitudes. The obtained knowledge broadens the range of processes students consciously manage in cooperation with partners. The course will address the definitions and approaches of time management, assess the benefits of time management, the use of time and the basic principles of time management and establish objectives and priorities.
